Dear Mr. Davis,

The only way I can help others who have not been doing this kind of work is through my books.

I think you'al be wasting an enormous amount of time if you do not first master the basic literature.

You will have a difficult problem distinguishing between the tremenduous outpouring of exciting crap and substantial work.

Most of the stuff on the college circuit is attractive and undependable, intended to rip the mind of with the pocket.

Good luck,
